

2018-2020 Florida Senate Agriculture Committee Members

As a Floridian, by sharing your opinions and ideas with your representatives and senators in Tallahassee, you can help them decide what to do about the issues and pending legislation that affects us all. However, you need to know which representatives to contact and how to contact them.

Below is a list of the Senators in the Committee on Agriculture, the food-related legislation they supported and their contact information.

When contacting your senators, here are some tips:

- ✓ Phone your representatives. Have your message ready to go before calling and contact your representative about an issue before the Legislature acts on it.
- ✓ Send letters to your representatives. Identify issues and double check for grammatical mistakes. Tell your representative what effect you think a bill, if it becomes law, will have on you, your children, business, or community. Be concise, but specific.
- ✓ Visit your representatives in person. If possible, make an appointment first. Suggest a course of action and offer to help. Be polite, even if you disagree with the representative.
- ✓ Use a variety of communication methods. Use other methods to get your representative's attention; for example: give testimony at public hearings held by the Legislature.
